ITEM-331: (R-91-1787) ADOPTED AS RESOLUTION R-278050

Matter of incorporation of the California Coastal Commission's suggested modifications into the University Community Plan.

The California Coastal Commission has suggested three minor modifications to the University Community Plan. The three modifications suggested would affect the Urban Design Element of the University Community Plan. These modifications include language revisions to a total of three sentences regarding encroachment onto slopes of twenty-five percent or over.

(District-1.)

Adoption of a Resolution approving the Coastal Commission modifications to the Urban Design Element of the University Community Plan.

PLANNING DEPARTMENT SUPPORTING INFORMATION: On January 16, 1990, the City Council adopted an amendment to the University Community Plan and the North City Local Coastal Program (LCP) Land Use Plan. This amendment consisted of the addition of an Urban Design Element, previously adopted Coastal Commission suggested modifications, and other miscellaneous changes to the University Community Plan. The Community Plan and LCP amendments were transmitted to the California Coastal Commission for review and final approval. The Coastal Commission hearing for the amendments were held April 10-13, 1990. The California Coastal Commission certified the amendment requested with suggested modifications. These modifications were minor, and included revisions to three sentences in the Urban Design Element of the plan regarding encroachment on slopes of twenty-five percent or greater. The following strike-out/underline language indicates the three modifications suggested by the California Coastal Commission.

MODIFICATION 1

Page 74 of the Urban Design Element (Draft-July, 1989).

Delete: A maximum of ten percent of slopes twenty-five percent or over should be developed in order to protect sensitive environmental lands and subarea character. Add: A discretionary encroachment onto slopes twenty-five percent or over may be allowed, utilizing the criteria (site-specific mapping, slope analysis and sliding scale of allowable encroachments) established in the certified Hillside Review Ordinance, if consistent with the protection of sensitive environmental lands and subarea character. In addition, development within Subarea 1 is subject to the Coastal Zone regulations.

Page 76 of the Urban Design Element (Draft-July, 1989).

Delete: As a general guideline, not more than 10 percent of all surface areas with a natural slope ratio of 25 percent or greater should be graded. Add: Any encroachment onto surface areas with a natural slope ratio of 25 percent or greater must be determined through the Hillside Review Ordinance process, based on site-specific conditions.

Locating tennis courts, swimming pools, and similar uses on the flatter areas of the site. Delete: Avoid Add: Prohibit the development of recreational or accessory uses which require large, flat surfaces on slopes twenty five-percent or greater.

In the matter of saving a 3-acre Eucalyptus Grove and Pioneer Palm Trees.

(Mira Mesa Community Area. District-6.)

SUPPORTING INFORMATION: Magnificent, nearly century-old pioneer palm trees and a 3-acre eucalyptus grove are in imminent danger of being logged by CalTrans and the County at a taxpayer cost of $420,000. This is supposed to be "mitigation" for the eastern leg of Highway 56, but it was never presented to the Council when we approved that much-needed road project in 1989. Instead we were told the emphasis would be on tree-planting, not tree-cutting, along Camino Ruiz. There are legitimate alternate environmental mitigations available, involving tree planting and restoration of Penasquitos Creek. The City Council deserves the opportunity to debate this specific project, an opportunity we were denied in the past.

FILE LOCATION: MEET

COUNCIL ACTION: (Tape location: E124-F059.)

Motion by Henderson to direct City Staff to report back in 30 days on 1) the means by which an alternative mitigation site can be approved without any delay of project SR-56; 2) confirm the sense of the Council that we do not desire to cut down mature eucalyptus trees in the grove at Penasquitos; and 3) to specify costs of the alternative sites which they have already identified and match those against the constraints of CalTrans mitigation requirements.
